

Respite care providers

Below is a list of respite care providers for people living with dementia and their families. Please note however that we cannot recommend any particular organisation as we have to remain impartial. We would advise that you access the Care Quality Commission website www.cqc.co.uk to look at the latest reports on individual facilities. We would also recommend visiting places beforehand. Some care facilities only have a small number of beds allocated for respite so availability may be limited. For more information please contact these organisations directly.
